

October 12, 2011

THE ROYALS

Prince Harry Comes to the Rescue at Pool Party

BY SIMON PERRY AND STEPHEN M. SILVERMAN

Wednesday October 12, 2011 12:00 PM EDT

Prince Harry
Rotello/MCP/Startraks

No stranger to creating a splash in a swimming pool in his own right, Prince Harry proved himself a gentleman during a poolside incident in California last weekend – and one young beauty even got his towel to show for it.

In the U.S. for his military helicopter training, the royal army captain and his buddies were watching an England rugby match on TV at the rooftop pool of San Diego's Andaz Hotel, when someone got the bright idea to toss Lindsay Swagerty into the water, fully clothed.

Like 109 +1 0
 Share Tweet Send

"Prince Harry was the first to notice me when I got out and he wrapped his towel around me to keep me warm," Swagerty, 23, said after her unexpected plunge, reports Britain's Sun tabloid. "It was such a gentlemanly thing to do."

http://www.people.com/people/package/article/0,,20395222\_20536242,00.html

October 12, 2011